3. Account Registration

Users must provide accurate information during registration and keep their account information up to date. Users are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of their login credentials and for activity performed through their account.

4. Farmer Responsibilities

Farmers should provide accurate farm, crop-lot, quantity, quality, price, harvest, and location information. Farmers are responsible for the accuracy of information submitted for their produce.

5. FPO Responsibilities

FPOs should provide accurate organisation and member information and should use the platform only for legitimate agricultural and market-linkage activities.

6. Buyer Responsibilities

Buyers should provide accurate business, procurement, crop requirement, pricing, location, and delivery information. Buyers are responsible for information submitted in their requirements and offers.

7. Crop Lots and Market Information

Crop-lot and market information displayed by Farmora may depend on information submitted by users, backend systems, market data sources, or intelligence services. Market prices and recommendations may change and should not be treated as guaranteed prices or profits.

8. Offers and Transactions

Offers, negotiations, and transactions are subject to the information and terms agreed between the relevant parties. Farmora is intended to facilitate market linkage and does not guarantee that every listing, offer, or transaction will be completed.

9. Delivery and Logistics

Where delivery or logistics services are used, tracking information may be displayed through the platform. Delivery status can depend on logistics providers, buyers, sellers, and other external factors.

10. Payments

Payment information and payment status shown in Farmora are intended to help users track transactions. Actual payment processing and settlement may depend on the applicable payment service, bank, buyer, seller, or other authorised service provider.

11. Prohibited Use

Users must not use Farmora for unlawful activities, fraudulent listings, misleading information, unauthorised access, harassment, abuse of other users, or activities that may harm the platform or its users.

12. Privacy

Farmora may process information required to provide its services, including account, profile, crop, requirement, transaction, location, and related operational information. A separate Privacy Policy should explain applicable data practices.

13. Platform Availability

Farmora may be temporarily unavailable because of maintenance, technical problems, network issues, third-party services, or other circumstances. Availability of individual features may change over time.

14. Changes to These Terms

These Terms and Conditions may be updated when the platform, services, or applicable requirements change. Users should review the latest version before continuing to use Farmora.

15. Account Restrictions
